Change in water rates?

The Board of Water Commissioners for the Town of Wilmington have told the Board of Selectmen that they will think over a change in water rates for the average householder in Wilmington. That was a last minute statement by the chairman, last Thursday evening after a discussion of over an hour, in which the president of the Wilmington Chamber of Commerce also took part.

All five of Wilmington's selectmen seemed to commonly share the thought that the rate was too high for householders, although they never collectively said so. Chairman Miceli, who said he believed he was speaking for the board, opened the conversation proposing that there be a flat rate for homes, and no meter reading. Chairman Blake said that there would be considerable savings in labor costs in such an event, but wasn't certain as to what would happen.

Based on 1973 figures, Mr. Blake told the Selectmen, 60% of the water goes to private homes, 37% goes to industry, and 2% to commercial enterprises. He defended the water rates to industry, saying that the four largest users of water in Wilmington pay 25% of the income.

Further discussion brought out that the four firms use 40% of the water supplied by the department, and the figure was attacked by Selectman Boylen.

When Blake said that it costs more to put water into the

"So what," said Boylen. "Put the money to work improving the water system. You are always short of cash."

Blake did not buy this statement, partly because of the bookkeeping system used by the Water Department.

"The water supply," he said, "is going to deteriorate. We are going to have to buy somewhere else, someday."

Bernard Brady, president of the Chamber of Commerce spoke up to say that to industry water is part of the cost of the work of extracting a profit, but to the homeowner it is "a part of a living nightmare." He was substantially in agreement with Mr. Boylen and Mr. Cairns, who had been speaking up from time to time in support of Mr. Boylen.

Both Boylen and Cairns spoke up to ask "Is there not a more equitable way?"

Brady agreed. "An equitable way is what industry needs." At present, he felt, the increased burden was falling on the home owner.

Mr. Blake spoke up again on the theme of no meter readers, but this time he went further - how about letting them have the water for nothing?

Mike Cairns offered the thought that the department should be willing to come up "with an adjustment," and Blake countered to this that "we are willing to come back with new figures."

Two injured when car strikes tree

Two Wilmington youths are patients in the Winchester Hospital as the result of a car accident early Sunday morning on Middlesex Avenue in North Wilmington.

Stephen C. Ward, 19, of 397 Middlesex Avenue has lost his front teeth, is suffering from broken ribs, and from injury to his lungs. The passenger in the car, George Boylen, about the same age, of Lodgewood Rd., Wilmington, is suffering from concussion and back injuries.

The accident occurred at 12:30 am May 19th (Sunday). Ward was driving a 1970 Plymouth hardtop, which struck a telephone pole, and then a maple tree, pretty much demolishing both. The car was declared a total wreck. Police said the skid marks were 190 feet long.

One witness told the police that the car had left the North Wilmington parking lot, "going through gears" in acceleration, and that the driver lost control "at the corner" (of Longview Road or North Street - the description is not clear).

Another witness told the police that he estimated the speed of the car to be over 80 miles an hour. A citation has been issued by the police for "driving to endanger." Officer David McCue investigated the accident.

A change in the command

There is a new lady at the head of the Baldwin Neighborhood of Girl Scouts - Mrs. Evelyn Kaminski.

The Girl Scouts in the Tewksbury-Wilmington area are a part of a Council which has its headquarters in Andover. The Tewksbury-Wilmington Neighborhood, which has long had the name Baldwin Neighborhood, presumably from the Baldwin Apple Tree.

The lady who has long been operating head of the Baldwin Neighborhood is Flo Rinker, from Hathaway Acres in Wilmington. Flo has had a marvelous capacity for work, and for organization, and has kept the ladies and the young ladies in the Girl Scouts busy, both in Tewksbury and in Wilmington. Tuesday night, at a dinner in the Tewksbury Congregational Church, the chain of command was changed. Mrs. Rinker has retired, and in her place is a lady who can be described as the hardest worker of them all.

Evelyn Kaminski, of Fairview Road, Wilmington is a Scout from the west. Her husband holds the coveted Silver Beaver award, and these two are all Eagle Scouts. She has been a worker for the Girl Scouts, and for Boy Scouts, and a year ago she was awarded the even more rare Silver Fern, a decoration to the ladies who have earned their way in the World of Boy Scouts.

While she has been active in Boy Scouts she has not let her Girl Scout and other activities slide. Currently she is the person in charge of Camp Party Acres, Wilmington Youth Camp in North Wilmington. There are those who attended the Annual Town Meeting in Wilmington this year who can testify to the abilities of Mrs. Kaminski.

Father Joseph Leahy of St. George's Church, where she has worked for years is probably the person to best attest to her abilities. He knows that the Lord will help her do the work she has chosen to. Father Leahy knows, from experience.

AN AWARD FOR NORTH HAMPSHIRE. Tuesday night, in the Tewksbury Congregational Church, the award is being given to the Rinker family.

Epilepsy group meets in Lawrence

The first meeting of the newly formed Gloucester-Merrimack Valley Epilepsy Association was held May 19 at North Andover Hospital, Lawrence General Hospital.

Dr. Roger W. Parolia, neurologist of Lawrence, was the guest speaker. He gave a general introduction to the history, symptoms and treatment of epilepsy. In his talk he stressed that in the vast majority of cases of epilepsy there can be complete control of symptoms with medication. He emphasized that much of the difficulty experienced by epileptics and their families in the past arose from fear, ignorance, and a tendency of epileptics to unnecessarily restrict the pursuit of normal life activities.

Following Dr. Parolia's talk there was a general discussion of future plans for the Association.

These plans include continuing education of the public as well as various professional groups, setting up parents groups for the purpose of sharing their experience in dealing with the problems of epilepsy in the family.

There are plans to co-sponsor special education programs for medical, nursing, and educational professionals. The study of the need for additional clinical or social services also will be part of the long-range goals of this Association.

For information call Dr. David S. Shapiro, 688-2151.

Tsongas announces for Congress

Paul Tsongas, of Lowell, presently a Middlesex County Commissioner, announced today his candidacy for the U.S. House of Representatives from the 10th Middlesex District.

Mr. Tsongas, elected last year, as a Middlesex County Commissioner, opposed a reform drive in the state's largest county. He has also served as a Lowell City Commissioner, and as Deputy Assistant Attorney General of Massachusetts. He is 35 years old, and is the first announced candidate in the 10th Congressional district from the 10th district.

His opening statement characterized the incumbent, Rep. Paul Chabot, as being "incompetent and unimproved by the abuses of the Nixon administration." Like Congressman Chabot, Mr. Tsongas has served on the staff of former Congressman F. Wendell Horn.

A Dartmouth College and Yale Law School graduate, he has attended the John F. Kennedy School of Government and is an honor graduate from Harvard University. Masters in Public Administration.

The Finance Committee and the Transportation Nickle

There is a group of people in the Wilmington Town Government known as the Finance Committee. They are nice people. They spend a lot of unpaid time checking the town's finances, which is a good thing. Specially it may be said to be a good thing when one considers that the town (not the school department - that's different) spends a couple of millions a year.

A couple of years ago, when a budget was being prepared for the eighteen month period in which all town budgets now find themselves the Finance Committee, or some of the members thereof, were worrying about the money used to pay persons who are heads of departments for the use of their private automobile. People who use a car on town business, the Town Crier believes are paid for this at the rate of ten cents a mile.

The Town Manager was told to have the various trips made by these individuals documented, so that they could be studied by the Finance Committee. In order to add some emphasis to the statement the Finance Committee cut the various budgets so that the heads of departments would be short of money before July 1, 1974, and would have to ask for more.

It was when the department heads came in to ask for more money that the Finance Committee was going to ask what happened to that last nickel.

Things didn't work out exactly as planned.

There were some department heads who had ridiculous receipts. The Finance Committee was able to beam over that.

There were other department heads who did not have such careful records.

The person who compiles these records for the Town Manager had not gotten beyond the 20th of April. The Finance Committee wanted to talk about things as they were on May 20th.

Herling Morris, Town Manager, said the Finance Committee he needed $300 to carry on to the First of July. The Finance Committee ignored and hewed a bit.

Morris mentioned that the documentation for which the Committee was looking wasn't all there. The Finance Committee said they might let him have some money later.

So that's where it stands, and Mr. Morris is now hoping that some of the new cars that have been ordered as a result of the vote of the last town meeting will be arriving soon, and take all part of the pressure the game of Nickles and Transportation.

A Colonial Mystery Is Solved

The Minute Men are groups of fun loving people in certain Massachusetts communities who like to parade and participate in events, especially when in Colonial costume. The towns and cities which sent contingents of Minute Men to Lexington and Concord on Lexington Day, are entitled to have companies of Minute Men today. Other towns must be satisfied with companies of Militia, providing that there was such a company of Militia in existence on Lexington Day.

Wilmington had a company of Minute Men, which marched, and three companies of Militia, which also marched. The Minute Men participated in the fighting at Merriam's Corner, and on to Charlestown, and presumably the Militia also participated in the fighting, there seems to have been no injuries to Wilmington men on that day.

Anyway the various companies, today, gather from time to time for parades and other fun-loving occasions. One of the excuses for a parade is to "Raise a Liberty Pole." That brings all the companies together for the patriotic purpose of living off replicas of the ancient tree stump, marching, and afterwards having a repast together, in which, it is alleged, the true purpose of the protest march carried by Minute Men is revealed.

There was such a parade in Wilmington last Sunday. Some fifteen companies of Minute Men were the guests of the Wilmington Company, and there were companies of Militia, and one company of Colonial Seamen, men who were wearing the old hard hats and striped jerseys with an Colonial sailors were supposed to wear.

Those sources, however, were wearing shoes, Colonial sources, on duty, went barefoot. Selections and others took part in the parade from the Common to Rotary Park through the Town Square, and all in all it was quite satisfactory, with gun going bang and people smiling. The Charlestown Company of Militia has acquired an old smallhorn cannon, which is dragged along, and which is fired at Rotary Park, with a most satisfying boom.

The "Liberty Pole" or "Liberty

Tree" was a symbol of rebellion, in Colonial days, in King George's (July 4) the communities were ordered to have a Liberty Pole, and Wilmington was not one of those who such a pole provided a good reason for a parade. The Wilmington Liberty Pole was dragged for the length of the north side of Rotary Park, before it was raised, some five "British soldiers" appeared in uniform and marched in front of the pole. They were dressed in the full of the eighteenth century, Colonial. The Town Manager, this was accomplished, after which Captain Hill of the Wilmington Militia, had marched "half a distance" to the station, and afterwards everyone marched all the way, including the five British soldiers.

The big event of the day was the public manifestation of the July

A Place to Practice

Next Monday is the annual Memorial Day Parade. Although they seem to be slated for the last position in that parade, the Wilmington Cardinals will be a team and bugle corps well worth waiting for. It is a band of young people who have taken more than a few national honors.

There was a time when the Cardinals practiced down in the town Park. It was a place that was far from homes, and it was a good place for a marching band to line up on the fine points.

But now it is summer time, and the Cardinals have been squeezed out. Baseball games every evening, under the lights, and in the afternoon too. No room for the Cardinals.

Recently the young people have been practicing in an Expo field. But someone has complained - and it seems they will have no place in which to drill.

There is more to be said for this organization. They have a top notch drill team, they are excellent musicians, but more than that they are young people who never provide any trouble for the police - the kind of young people of whom a community can be proud.

Wilmington, it seems, has no room for the Cardinals.

A Farewell

There even have sports to tell their story, but what about that poor old artist? She seems to be a little bit of a mess. And possibly all about the mess. Now she has signed another one. She must never be a lover able to. However, her friends are not. This disappointment she tries to hide. What's wrong with him, just once a year, in looking at "treasures" for and now. Whether old or young, one should be right. Now focus and a brand new story. And now that I have had my say. And yet won't ever get my way. What poor - ever will I do. With all the luck I had for you!

Alan Altman protested the fine

Attorney Alan Altman, Wilmington, learned what it is like to be on the wrong end of a Fine Master, yesterday. It was the annual Junior Rotarian Day, when the high school youngsters who were the guests of the Rotary Club all year, ran the show, for one day. But Stewart was the Rotary President, and the Fine Master was Paul Granta.

The total of the fines collected was $21.00. It was up to $20.00 of which was from Attorney Altman. Mr. Altman protested, and called the Fine Master a "bagger". That cost Alan Altman another dollar, and made up the total of $22.

Wilton Drive Extension plan is signed

After nine months or so of study the plan for an extension of Wilton Drive, off Shawmut Avenue, has been signed by the Wilmington Planning Board. The plan provides for one additional lane at the end of Wilton Drive, for members of the Chabot family, and a three-foot wide easement in Ludden Brook, for drainage purposes. It was signed Tuesday night, by the Planning Board.

The board interviewed three candidates for a part time position as assistant in planning. Two were young, one white and one black, and the third was a young lady who, being an "army daughter," had been raised in France and Germany. All were named to the interviews by a Boston firm specializing in engineering.

The planning board, in a decision with Alan Joseph Chabot, agreed to submit the time for decision on Wilton Drive, Section 1, to June 28.

There were discussions with the developer of Chabot Meadows relative to drainage, and there was also a discussion relative to the building of the new Chabot Road across the area.

Ken Miller, Engineer, submitted a plan for a new 40,000 square foot building at the foot of Wilton Street, near the Wilton Inn.

Bits & Pieces

Flowers
The May flower is well upon us and flowers are in full bloom, or in the bud, or just beginning to bloom.

In the weeks to come there will be the shy lady slipper, growing in secluded places. This is the place to let it grow - and not disturb it.

The lady slipper was once very common. It is now for all practical purposes rare. Each year fewer of these plants. Often there are those who will pick every lady slipper in sight. Then, next year, and forever after, there are none. Enjoy them, if you are fortunate to see them, and then leave them to grow in peace.

Mean while, at the corner of Federal Street and Middlesex Avenue there is a lilac bush in full bloom. The Town Crier believes this is the largest lilac bush in Middlesex County, and further, the Town Crier believes it was first planted by William Blinfield, who lived at that corner 200 years ago, and was the Sergeant of the Wilmington Company of Minute Men, on Lexington Day.

Senior Citizens
Some of the Senior Citizens of Wilmington were guests, last Thursday at the K of C at a whist party. There is a party there, once a month, for all Senior Citizens of Wilmington, and the Town Crier would guess that it is on the third Thursday.

Anyway Rose Gatta won the door prize, which was a transistor radio and Norm Miller won the top whist prize, which was a five pound canned ham.

Students
Three young men who will be in the football team of Wilmington High School, next fall, are now to be described as being extremely short-haired.

One, it is understood, has his head shaved as the result of a dare, plus an offer of $45, which he accepted.

The second, it is said, went in a barber, probably as the result of a dare from his classmates. His short hair job is reported as looking pretty good.

The third - well the Town Crier doesn't know - but it is a third step better than shaving - and which landed another youngster in the ever loving arms of his folks, this past weekend.

Class of 1959
Any more any members of the Class of 1959, Wilmington High School, around? Mrs. Mary Carter Jeffries wants to suggest a Piffeth Reunion. Her address is 1111 Alabama Ave., Suite 201, Florida, 32017.

Green Thumb
There has been, for a few months past, an advertisement from the Georgetown Brothers, Garden of America. There are two brothers, one has a farm in Blainville, Quebec. The other has a shop on Anderson Street, Gardiner, who is the president of the few English Vegetable Growers Association, with offices in William, the oldest Vegetable Growers Association in America.

In other words, there are two brothers, both with Green Thumbs.

Miss Potatoes
Every year Henry Porter, retired Postmaster and neighborhood judge two large potato patches, in a grocery store, cut them up into four piece plants; there is the garden in back of his house.

That gets him four hills of potatoes, for the fall harvesting.

The other day Henry got his two potatoes - five looking things. They cost him twenty cents apiece. He let them in the kitchen while he went out into the garden to work.

When he got back in the kitchen those potatoes were in the oven, being baked for supper. Henry says they are the finest potatoes he ever ate.

WILMINGTON/NEIRISE GRADUATES
Miss Sheryl Lynn Lester, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald N. Anderson, 276 Lowell Street, Wilmington and Miss Patricia Ann Lounsbury, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Lounsbury of 26 Shady Lane Drive, were among the twenty-four members of the Class of 1974 at the Lawrence Memorial Hospital of Bedford School of Nursing who graduated on Sunday May 21.

Miss Lounsbury graduated with honors.

BENEFIT WILMINGTON REGIONAL HEALTH CENTER

by Michael Ristuccia and Joe Casey

A hard paste wax is ideal for protecting your car's finish. After such a waxing, your waxing worries will be over for a half year or more.

Clean the finish first with a special cleaner, then spread wax on an area of no more than two square feet. Use at least three cloths, one for spreading, one for a preliminary polish, and one to give it a hard, buffed shine. Make sure the final cloth you use remains clean and soft.

Make sure you visit WILMINGTON FORD, 275 Main St., Rt. 38, Wilmington, 658-8800 for all your automotive needs. Your friend and neighbor whose integrity and reliability are well known to you, we feature a full selection of new and A-1 used cars and trucks, and our service and parts department is incomparable. Open: sales, 9-10 Mon-Fri; 9-4 Sat; service, 7:30-9 Mon-Fri; 7:30-5 Sat.

Helpful hint

For a quick sprucing, liquid wax is ideal. Use paste wax much less often.

Michele Caira Outstanding Teacher

Miss Michele Caira, Grade Four teacher at the Wildwood Elementary School in Wilmington has been chosen one of the Outstanding Elementary Teachers of America for 1974. Nominated by their principals earlier this year, they were selected for this honor on the basis of their professional and civic achievements.

Michele is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Aldo Caira of 188 Chestnut St., Wilmington.

Outstanding Elementary Teachers of America is an annual awards program honoring distinguished men and women for their exceptional services, achievements and leadership in the field of elementary education. Each year, the biographies of those honored are featured in the awards volume, Outstanding Elementary Teachers of America.

These educators are now eligible to receive the Outstanding Elementary Teacher of the Year award trophy. Five $500.00 unrestricted grants will be awarded to the schools represented by America's five outstanding elementary teachers.

Distinguished judges, along with the Board of Advisors, will select the five individual elementary teachers to be honored. In this way, the program thanks the teacher and the school for their contributions to the continuing excellence of American education.

In announcing the award winners to the administrators, Dr. V. Gilbert Beers, Director of the Outstanding Elementary Teachers of America program, stated: "The men and women chosen for this high honor have explored new paths, developed new insights and effectively communicated their knowledge to their students and colleagues. They are exceptional teachers."

Guidelines for selection include an educator's talents in the classroom, contributions to research, administrative abilities, civic service, and professional recognition.
